

An aerial photograph of the Rollins College campus. In the foreground, a large green lawn is filled with a large group of people, many sitting on the grass and others standing. There are several white tables and chairs set up. In the background, there are several large, light-colored buildings with red-tiled roofs and arched windows. A body of water is visible to the left, and a city skyline is in the far distance. The sky is clear and blue.

Why Mills Matters

An aerial photograph of the Mills College campus. In the foreground, a large green lawn is filled with many people, suggesting a festival or event. To the right, an American flag flies on a tall pole. The middle ground shows several large, light-colored buildings with red-tiled roofs and arched windows, surrounded by lush green trees. In the background, a calm lake reflects the sky, and beyond that, a city skyline with various skyscrapers is visible under a clear sky.

Our vision for Mills is a mission-center of student engagement and activity that integrates global citizenship, responsible leadership, meaningful lives and productive careers.

To the left, there are several large, light-colored buildings with red-tiled roofs and arched windows. In the background, a large body of water (Lake Mills) is visible, with a dense forest of green trees along its shore. In the far distance, a city skyline with several tall buildings can be seen under a clear sky. An American flag is visible on a pole to the right of the lawn.

Mills blends curricular and co-curricular learning.

A stylized graphic of a building facade, likely representing Mills College. It features a central yellow section with a red roof and a blue circle in the upper center. Below this are three blue rectangular windows. To the left and right of the central section are yellow sections with red roofs and blue rectangular windows. The entire graphic is positioned in the bottom left corner of the image.

Why Mills Matters

The project includes smaller personal spaces and larger community spaces that are student-centered and built with the purpose of interaction.

Why Mills Matters

The building will be focused on open spaces for students to connect, build community, interact, and work on group projects that showcase a 21st Century Liberal Education in action.

Most of the building will be glass with modern,
movable furniture
with a warm feel that's signature to Rollins' existing design and architecture.

Why Mills Matters

The background image shows two young women with long brown hair sitting at a wooden desk in a bright, sunlit room. They are both smiling and looking towards each other, appearing to be in a collaborative conversation. On the desk, there is a laptop, some papers, and a pen. A large window with blinds is visible in the background, letting in natural light.
